This class discusses what is expected in being a sponsor of a Mines project. This is the second class in a series to help people increase their knowledge about project management at Mines.

The learning objectives of the course are:

- Defining the role and responsibilities of being the Sponsor of a project at Mines
- Having a familiarity with the Mines Project Delivery Process

The one-hour class starts with defining what is project sponsorship and what is a sponsor. It goes on to talk about how the role of a project manager differs from the sponsor, then a brief overview of the Mines Project Delivery Process. Ample time is left for questions and discussion to ensure participants understanding of the topics.

Clayton Durkee, the Project Portfolio Manager, teaches the class. Clayton has a wealth of project management knowledge and experience from his many years of managing projects, programs and PMOs.

There are no prerequisites for this class. It is for anyone who will be sponsoring a project at Mines.
